ANNUAL REPORT 2017

Hellenic Evaluation Society

January 2018

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear HES members and friends,

In 2017, the Hellenic Evaluation Society (HES) has undergone a transitional period, in which we tried to improve our extroversion and to establish fruitful partnerships aiming at improving the promotion of evaluation in Greece.

The culmination of this effort was the decision of the European Evaluation Society to organize its 13th biennial conference in Greece, in cooperation with the HES. This major event will take place in Thessaloniki, in October 2018.

An important action implemented in 2017, was the successful organisation of the first annual conference of the HES, on the topic "Evaluation for Growth". The event was held in Athens on 12 October 2017. Moreover, we published in December 2017, the first issue of the scientific journal "Review of the Greek Evaluation Society".

In 2018, our goal is to work more intensively on organizing training actions that will provide ongoing training and support on evaluation and on the use of evaluation results. In this context, we have successfully pursued the stimulation of HES's links with universities and other educational and collective bodies, in order to offer qualitatively upgraded educational actions to those who are interested in broadening their knowledge and skills in evaluation.

We will also move forward in 2018 with the announcement of the Evaluation Competition, an important action to encourage and stimulate the evaluators' community, which was already announced for 2017 but could not be implemented within the year.

Finally, as part of the ongoing effort to contribute to the promotion of the evaluation culture in Greece and to the consolidation of the evaluation as a scientific and professional sector, we continue to work intensively and develop appropriate cooperations for the development of a system of accreditation for the evaluators.

Faithful to the values and the objectives set by the HES since its establishment, and with the support of all those interested in the evaluation in Greece, we will also try to intensify in 2018 the effort to consolidate the HES as a collective body representing evaluators in the public debate on evaluation in Greece and to promote evaluation as an essential part of governance.

For one more year, the members of the Board, members of the working groups, founding members and friends of the HES, volunteered their services and their support in this effort. I thank them warmly and I hope that our cooperation will be further enhanced.

Dimitra Ioannou

HES President

THE HELLENIC EVALUATION SOCIETY

The Hellenic Evaluation Society (HES) is a professional organisation created in September 2014 with the objective to implement, adapt and disseminate methods, techniques, technologies and applications of evaluation.

Our vision is to establish an evaluation culture that will contribute to the development, rational use of resources, to the attraction of investments, the strengthening of entrepreneurship, to ensure social cohesion and the effectiveness of public policies.

OBJECTS OF THE HES

The HES seeks for promotion of knowledge development and project evaluation methods, programs and policies to support evaluation activities of public bodies and private sector, academia and universities, dissemination of information and studies relevant to the evaluation and development of links among Greek and European experts - evaluators. HES aims also to promote the capitalization of knowledge acquired as a result of assessments and contribute to the recognition of specific qualifications and skills required for planning and implementing evaluations.

As a whole, the stake for HES is to help in creating an evaluation community that will be able to meet the diverse and interdependent challenges of growth prospects, economic and social disparities and governance failures.
