

English-language abstracts

Towards a strategic foresight setting for 2035

P.E. Petrakis

Presentation at the 6th Annual Conference of the Hellenic Evaluation Society, on November 9, 2023.

1. Conversation with the future. From Ancient Greece to today. Strategic Long-Term Planning and Creative Motivation. The preference of the Present over the Future
2. Risk, Uncertainty and Randomness in Strategic Long-Term Planning
3. The Scenarios of the Future
4. Four scenarios for the future and the required overcoming of history in Greece for 2035
5. Effective organization of Long-term Planning

Keywords: Foresight, Long-Term Planning.

Institutionalizing the evaluation of public policies. Recognizing the challenges of the use of policy evaluation to strengthen governance.

D. Ioannou

Policy evaluation stands as a crucial component in the lifecycle of any government or organizational initiative. It serves as a lens through which the effectiveness, efficiency, and relevance of policies are scrutinized and refined. However, the institutionalization of policy evaluation remains a pivotal yet often under-discussed aspect in the realm of governance. Understanding the institutionalization and use of policy evaluation is essential in ensuring informed decision-making and fostering accountable governance. This article underscores the critical need for integrating robust, standardized practices of policy evaluation into governance frameworks to promote transparency, efficiency, and adaptability in policymaking processes.

Keywords: Policy evaluation, Impact evaluation, Governance.